

Grandfather, Son... Grandson.

Three generations have been wearing the clothing that we sold them. Our clothes were good enough for the old grandfather; as the years sped by they improved so much that the son found them equal to his requirements; today the grandson finds that they have kept pace with progress, and he, too, is satisfied. The old grandfather's taste wasn't very fastidious perhaps, but the grandson isn't so easily pleased, and the fact that our clothing pleases him shows how much it has improved within the last thirty odd years.

To the Old Grandfather
To the Son in the Prime of Life
To the Young Boy

We say: Stick to the bridge that has carried you over so many times—you know you can trust it. Good clothing—honest clothing—honest prices.

A Foolish Question.

Dora—Oh, I'm in such distress of mind and I want your advice. I am loved by three men, and I don't know which to accept.
Clara—Which one has the most money?
Dora—If I knew that, do you suppose I'd waste precious time running around for advice?"—N. Y. Weekly.

Very, Very Different.

She—But how do I know you love me?
He—Why, I can't sleep nights, thinking of you.
She—That proves nothing. Pa can't sleep nights thinking of you, but I hardly think it is love.—Judge.

A Victim of Wealth.

Patience—I told you her money would come pretty close to turning her head.
Patience—Well, has it?
"She used to be a brunette; now she's a pronounced blonde."—Yonkers Statesman.

Talking It Over Outside.

"She always said she preferred to be the wife of one of the plain people, but they say the man she married is heir to a fortune."
"Still she's got her wish all right. I never saw a homelier chap than he is in my life."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Queer Wish.

He—How charmingly you sing.
She—Do you really think so?
He—Oh, yes, indeed, I never listen to you without wishing you were where my folks in Colorado could hear you.—Chicago American.

Isn't it Worth 25c. To Be Cured of Constipation

People who suffer from habitual constipation with all its attendant ills, clogged stomach and bowels, sluggish liver, heartburn, indigestion, and thin and impure blood, are too apt to believe that the only remedy is violent purgatives. The contrary is the case. Such cathartics, even if they do move the bowels, are irritating and griping, leave the stomach inflamed and unrelieved and the constipated condition recurs with greater difficulty of cure and the sufferer constantly growing worse. There is a laxative that moves the bowels without pain or griping, cleanses the stomach, sharpens the appetite, stimulates the liver, strengthens the nerves, and purifies the blood, while its marvellous tonic properties tone up the entire system and keep it healthy.

Laxakola Does It

Its remarkable tonic properties reach every organ—the liver, kidneys and stomach, nerve, heart and brain—and remove the cause of your debilitated condition. This is the only way to secure an absolute and permanent cure.

Laxakola is the only medicine for babies, is purely vegetable and its action is gentle, speedy and effective. For costed tongue, simple fevers, colds, chills and languid feeling it is the ideal medicine.

It tastes good. Let Children like it and ask for it.

Laxakola, the great tonic laxative, is not only the most efficient of family remedies, but the most economical, because it combines two medicines, viz: a laxative and tonic, and at one price. No other remedy gives so much for the money. At druggists, 25c. and 50c., or send for free sample to LAXAKOLA CO., 122 Nassau Street, N. Y., or 236 Dearborn Street, Chicago.
